

Select Counsel Beta Platform Gives Charter Members Glimpse into Future

SAN FRANCISCO, CA – July 11, 2017 – Over recent months, Select Counsel has rolled out its beta platform, featuring the network’s charter members and previewing the planned, broader capabilities that will be available upon its full capacity launch in Q4.

Established by Founder and President Andrew Dick, Select Counsel provides a new model for accessing comprehensive legal services by connecting clients with a curated network of boutique firm attorneys. The network offers the same caliber lawyers, breadth of expertise and geographic reach of a big firm with the price point and personalized service of a smaller practice.

The beta platform affords members the opportunity to begin making connections with other members and prospective clients. It also serves as a reference point as the Select Counsel team talks with in-house counsel about the challenges they experience in finding expertise in niche practices, senior lawyers not affiliated with Big Law firms, and high quality boutiques in specific jurisdictions.
